Getting to the Clare Valley

By Car: Driving time from Adelaide to the Clare Valley is around 100 minutes. Bring your own vehicle or hire one in Adelaide, then head north.

The North South Connector takes you to Horrock's Highway and straight up through a number of small towns. Very picturesque.

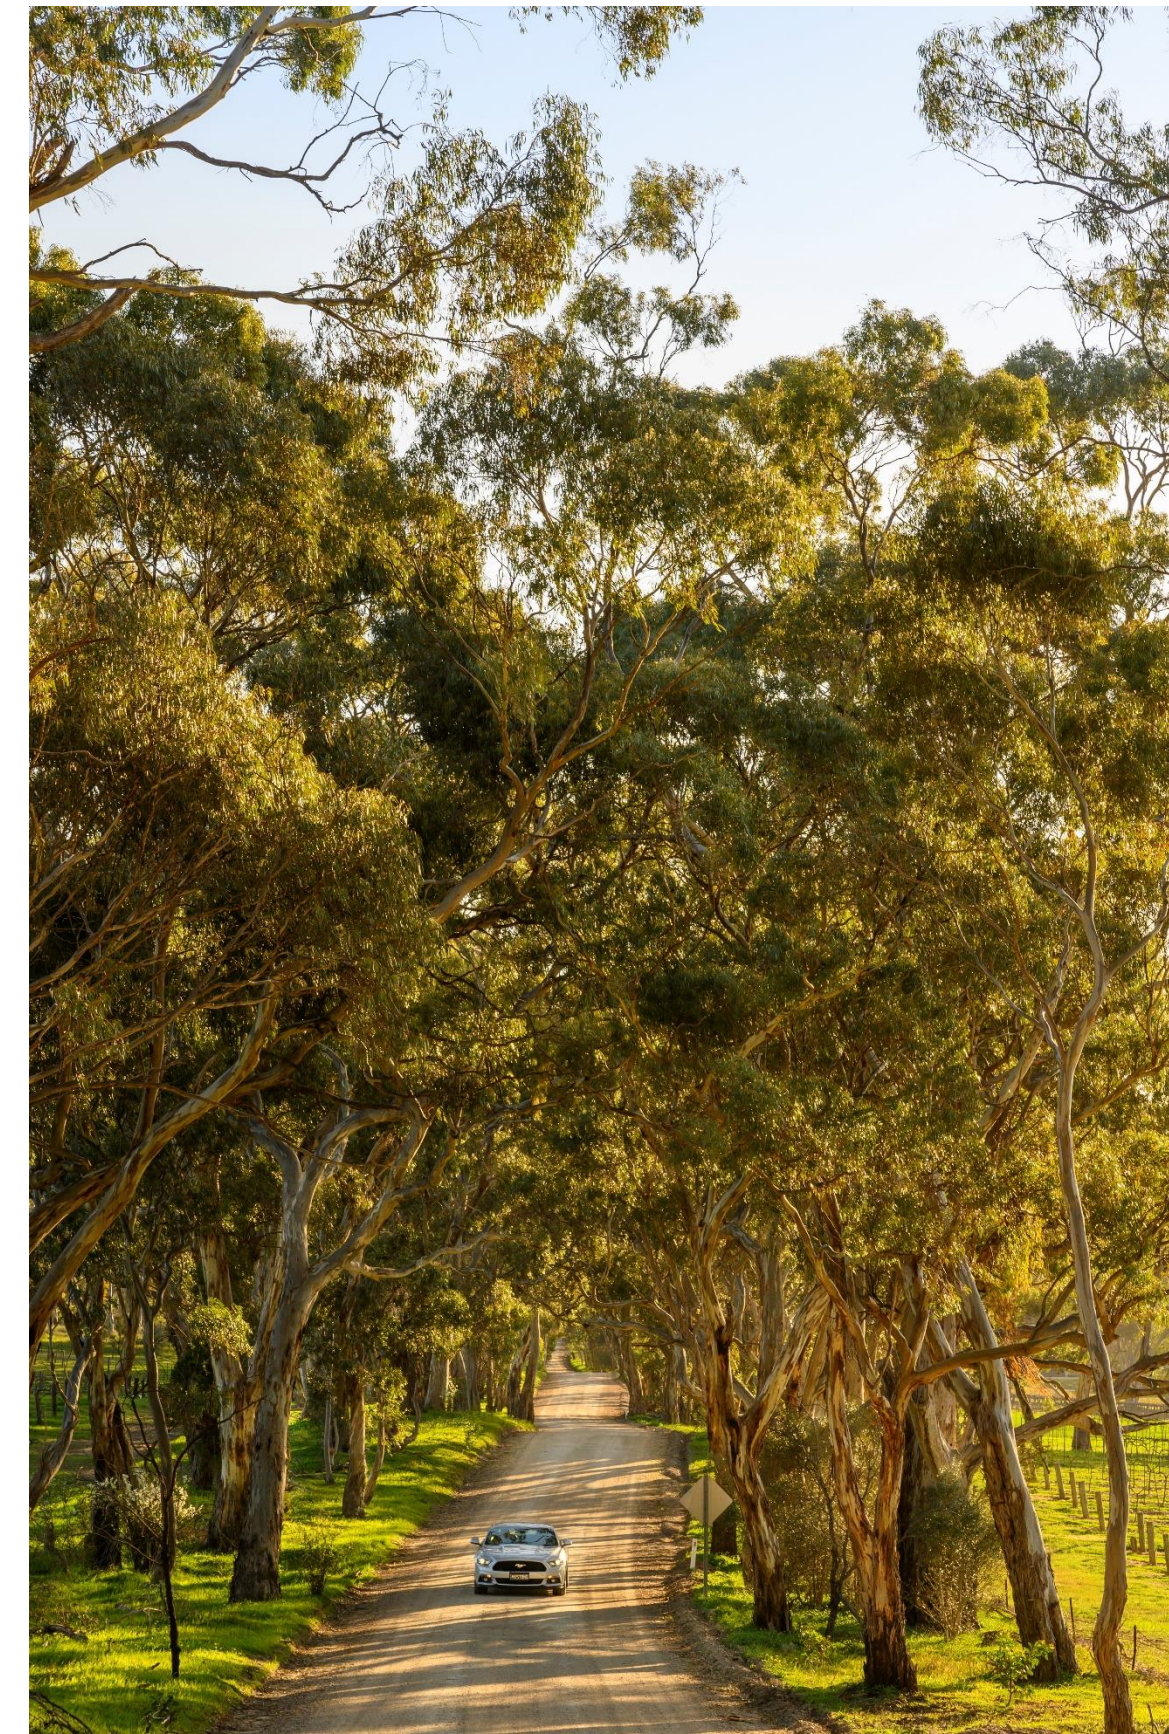

Or follow Port Wakefield Road through to Lochiel and Lake Bumbunga (the pink lake) and then to Blyth.

A coach service operates between Adelaide, the Clare Valley and other regional localities. Visit www.yppoaches.com.au for more information and timetable.

By Air: The Clare Valley Aerodrome is located on RM Williams Way 14 kilometres north of the Clare township.

Pickups and car tours can be arranged from the aerodrome to explore the region.

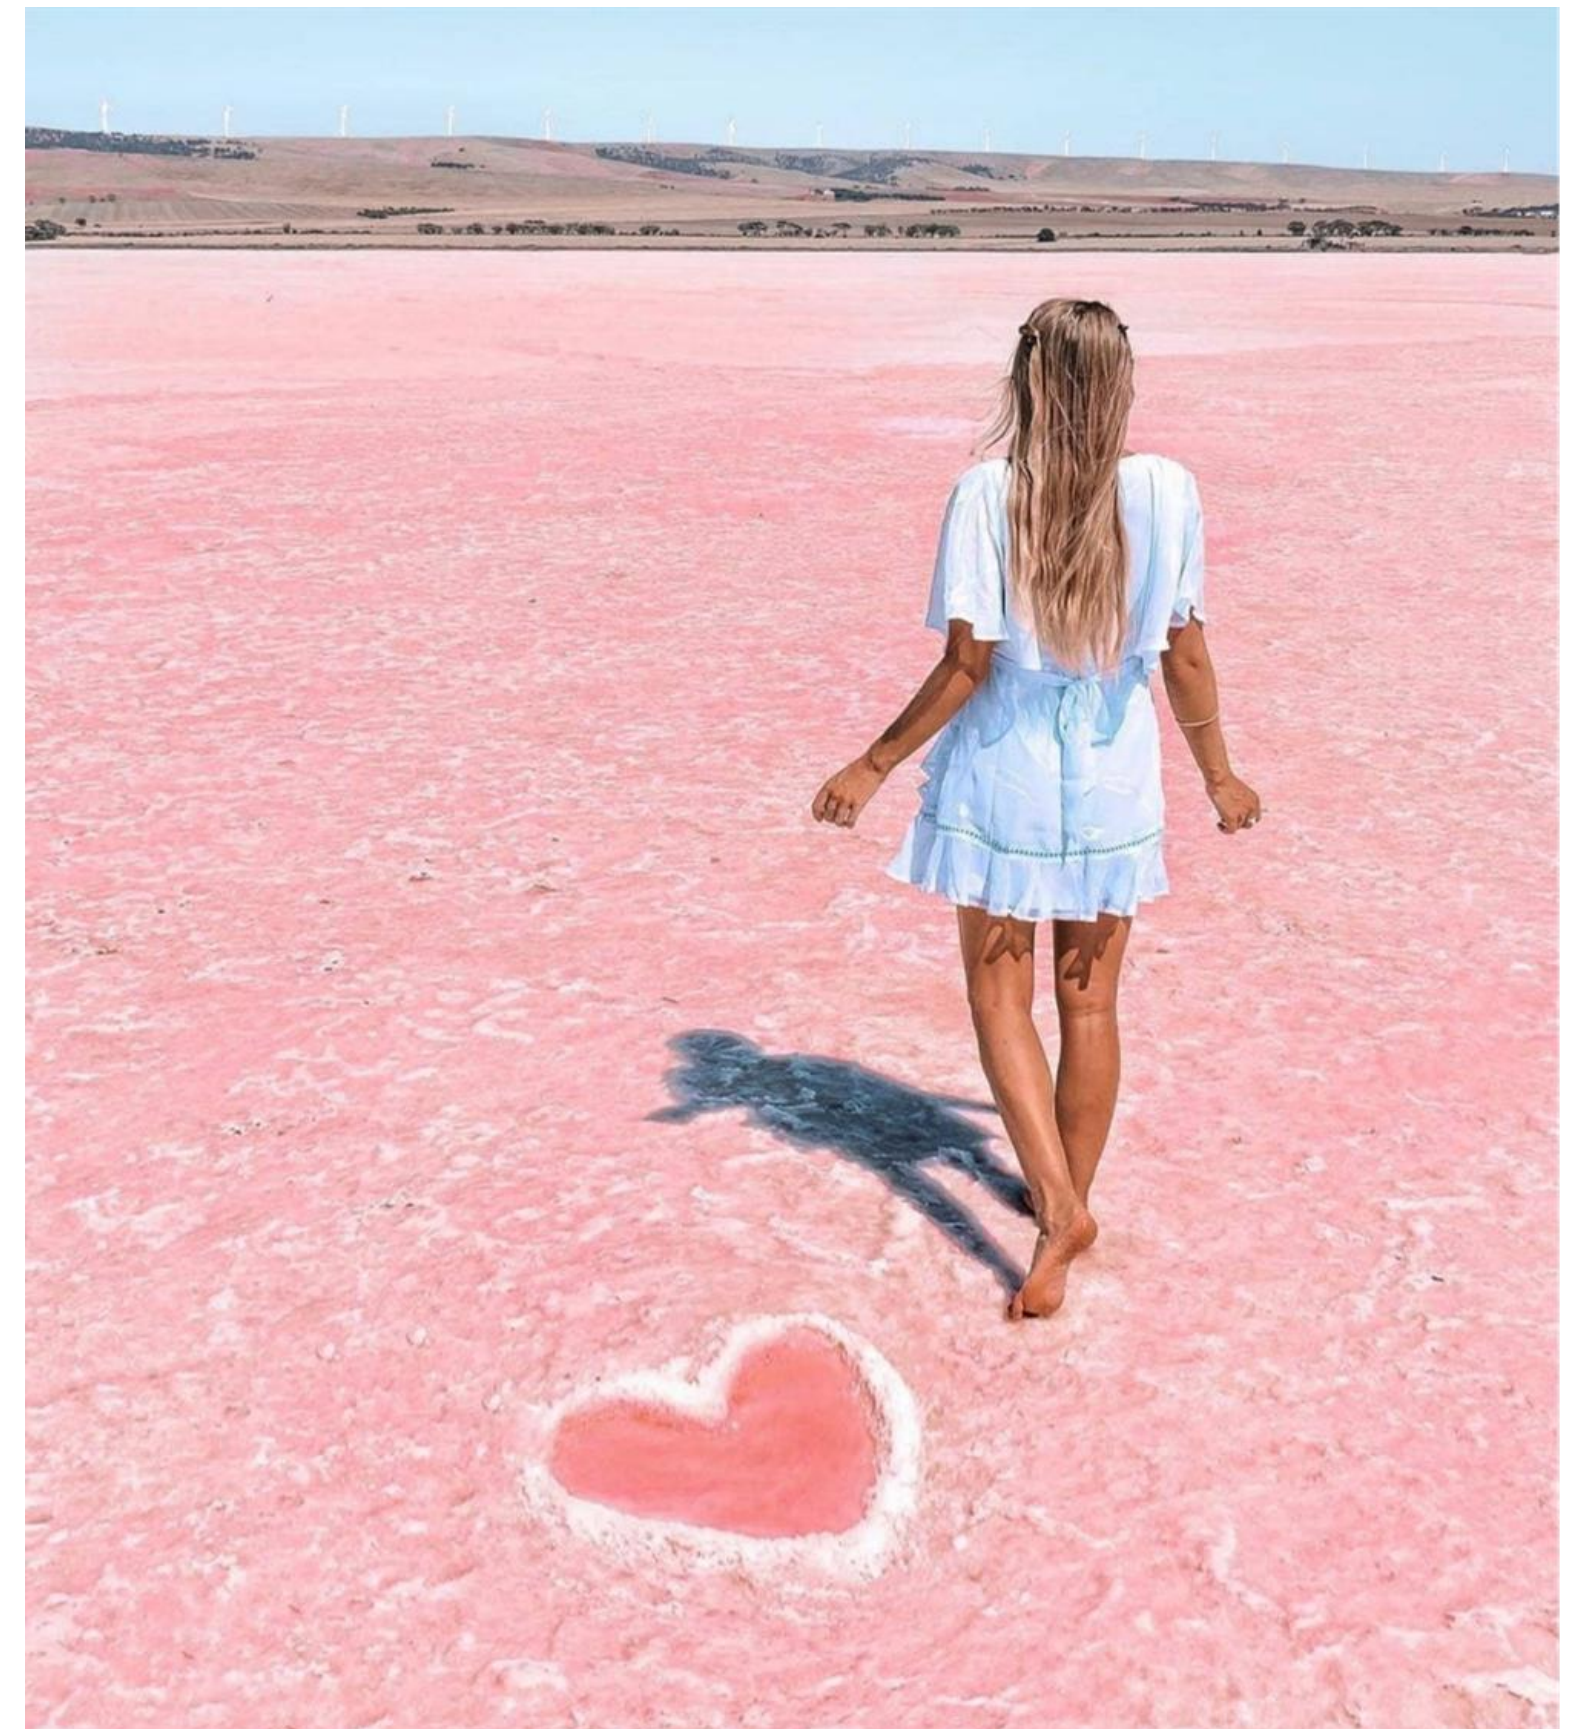

For more information, contact Clare Valley Tours on 0418 832 812 or visit www.clarevalleytours.com.au or Clare Valley Taxis on (08) 8842 1400 or visit www.clarevalleytaxis.com.au

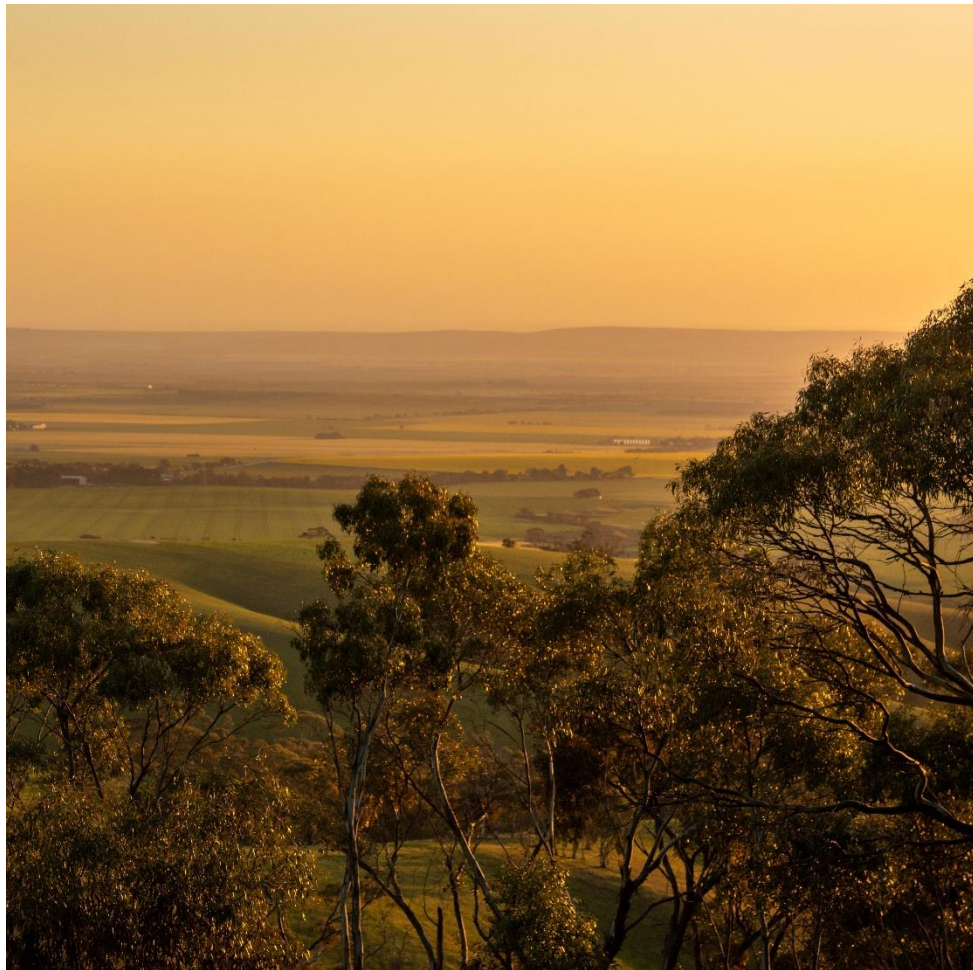

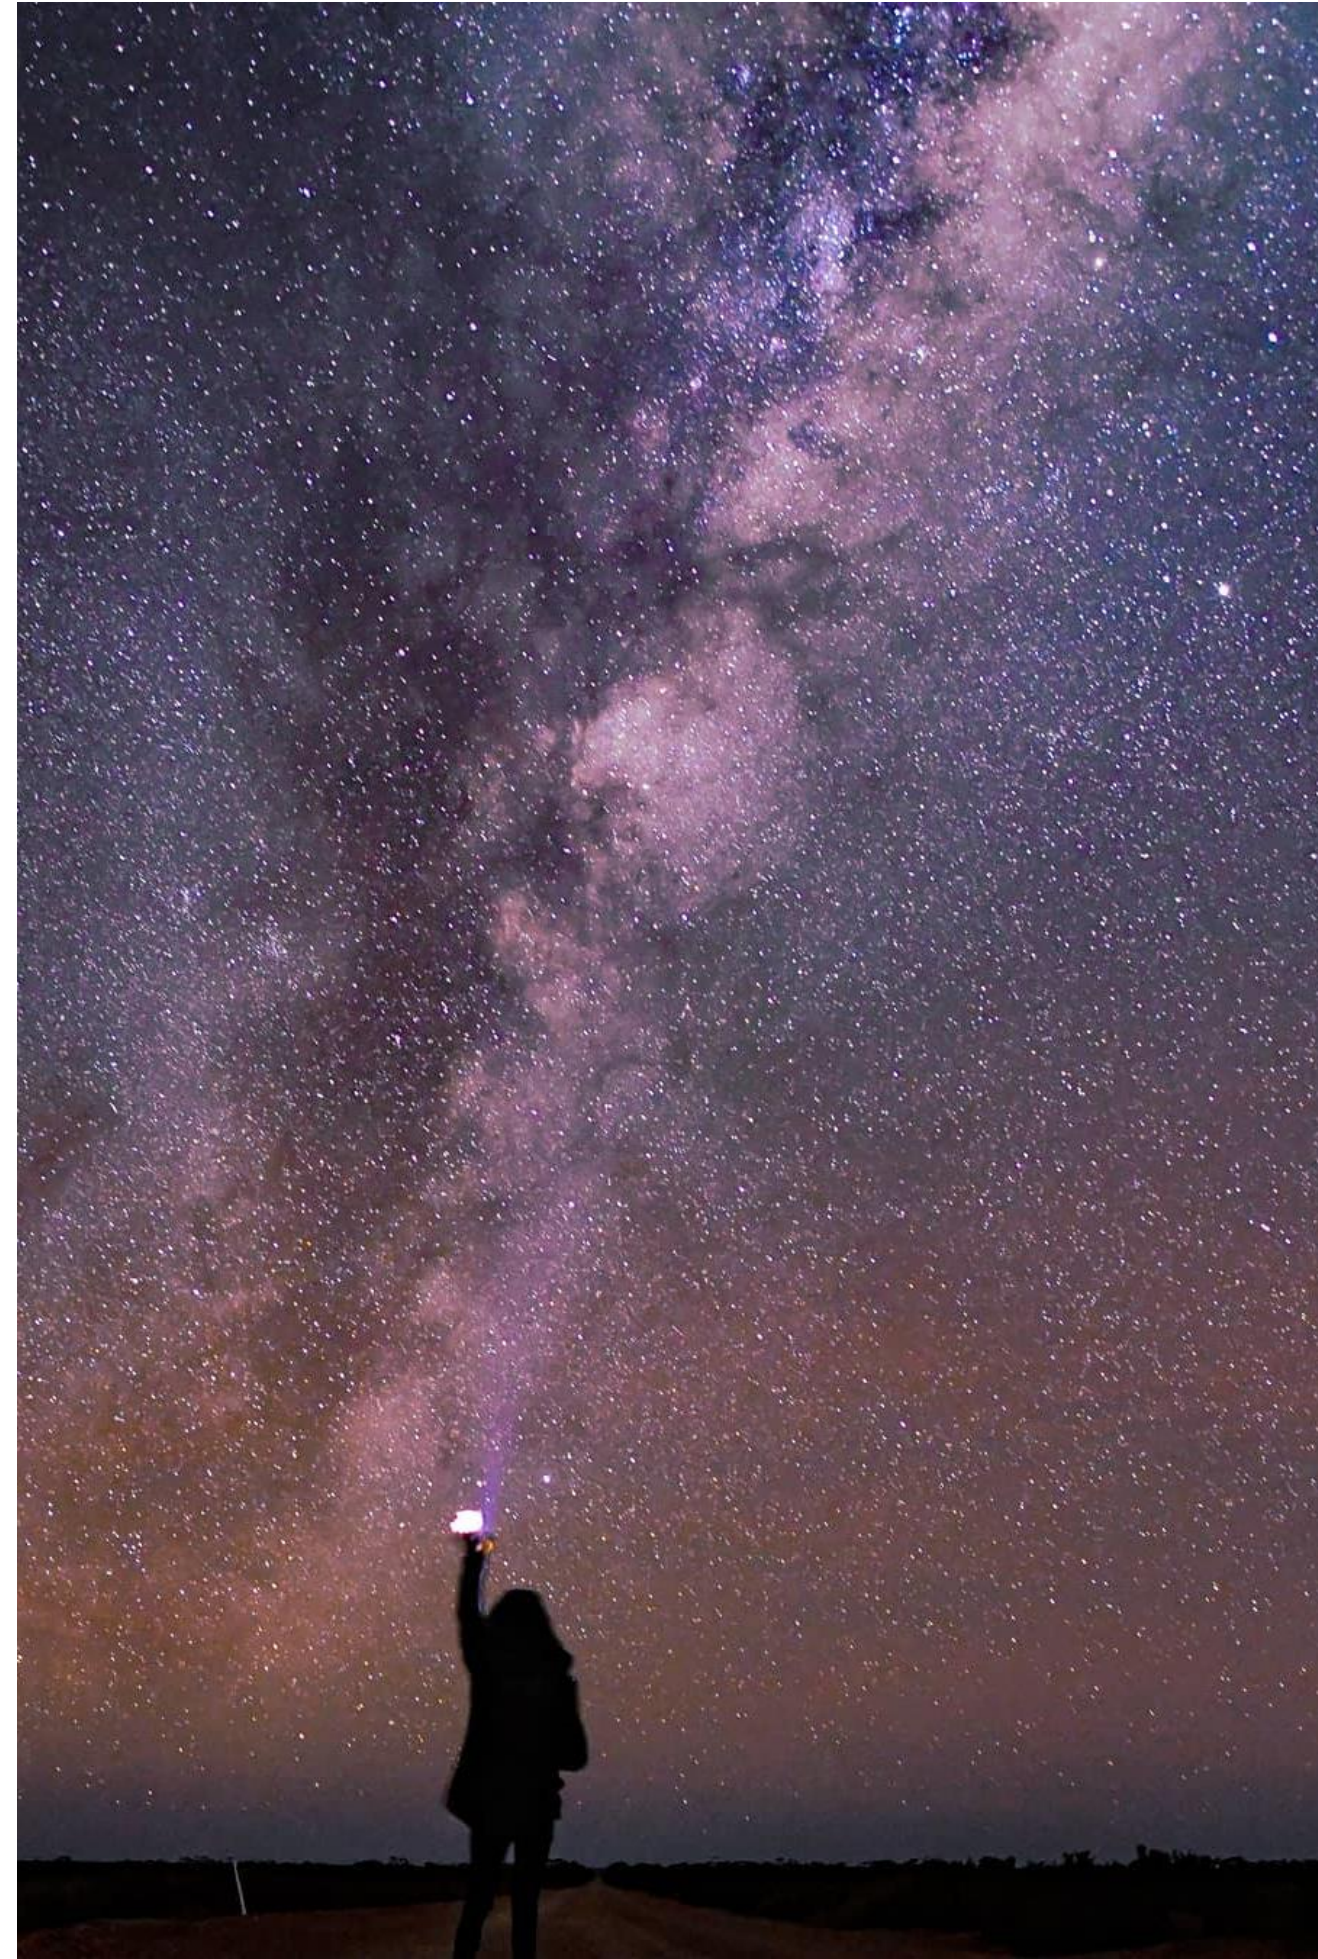

The Clare Valley tourism region offers the visitor a myriad of diverse experiences.

- one of Australia's premier wine regions
