

Rise Up for our River

INDUSTRY TOOLKIT

When the Murray River experienced record-breaking floods this past summer, it was the people who call the Riverland and Murray River, Lakes and Coorong regions home that suffered the most with operators seeing a significant downturn in visitation in what would typically be the busiest time of year. That's why now is the time to Rise Up for Our River.

To support our river communities and tourism industry, The South Australian Tourism Commission launched Rise Up for our River with the aim of inspiring South Australians to treasure, rediscover and explore the diverse tourism offerings across the Murray River regions and help get our flood affected tourism operators get back on their feet in 2023.

CAMPAIGN OVERVIEW

The campaign launched on Sunday 12th March with high impact media placements and will continue to roll out seasonally throughout the year. Marketing will include tv, radio, print, outdoor and digital advertising as well as PR activations that will drive further awareness of the campaign and encourage South Australians to support businesses in the Murray River regions.

The campaign will have 2 focuses:

1. RISE UP FOR OUR RIVER

Be part of the revival

Key campaign message establishing high level awareness in market with a rallying call to get South Australians behind the Initiative encouraging them to Rise Up and be part of the revival. The message will evolve providing compelling reasons and inspiration to visit the Riverland & Murray River, Lakes & Coorong seasonally to support operators as they continue to reopen and revive this year. A clear call to action will take consumers to a dedicated campaign landing page featuring itineraries, inspiration, accommodation and experiences on southaustralia.com/riverrevival to keep the regions top of mind.

2. RIVER REVIVAL VOUCHER

The River is Calling

The campaign will be further supported through compelling operator offers to promote the best accommodation and hosted experiences that the Riverland and Murray River, lakes & Coorong has to offer, to create a sense of urgency and immediacy. A clear call to action will take consumers to a dedicated campaign landing page featuring tourism operator deals on southaustralia.com/voucher over the ballot and booking periods.

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

Like all other campaigns, this needs your support in order for it to reach its full potential. Rise Up for our River will be in market until the end of the year and our next River Revival Voucher ballot will open for consumers to register from the 19-21 June. Your involvement is encouraged in the lead up to and during the registration period, regardless of your participation in the voucher program. Here are some simple ways you can leverage and bring this campaign to life on your own channels:

- 1 You can amplify the Rise Up for our River campaign activity and promote your own involvement in the voucher program by sharing our downloadable assets on your own social media channels. Access the campaign assets for your marketing/media channels from our River Revival Asset Library or via our Tourism Hub.
- 2 We've also created Canva social templates that will help you utilise the 'Rise Up for our River' key messages with your own imagery. Download InstaWgram and Facebook posts and Instagram and Facebook stories.
- 3 Apply #RiverRevivalVoucher campaign messaging across your own communication channels if you're part of the River Revival Voucher program including reasons to encourage consumers into the river regions.
- 4 A Newspaper full wrap will be appearing in The Advertiser on Monday 19th June, which you can display in your window/premises. We encourage your local community to do the same.

Use these key campaign messages in your own communications and include examples of your own curious and unique locations and experiences to get travellers excited about a river holiday.

- 5 Ensure your ATDW listing has a deal/offer and/or Event listing to encourage and entice visitors to holiday in your region throughout the year so it can be featured on southaustralia.com/riverrevival. We'll have supporting marketing activity driving consumers to this page throughout the year.
